

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer accessory has a low-profile housing that serves as a mouse pad, and a drawer built into the housing. Items such as preprinted sheets of paper or compact disks bearing information are removably held in the drawer with the aid of resilient fasteners integral with the drawer.